Add a New Project
User Scenario

Open Tool	Click + to add new project	Enter data that is available	Save	Preview	Publish
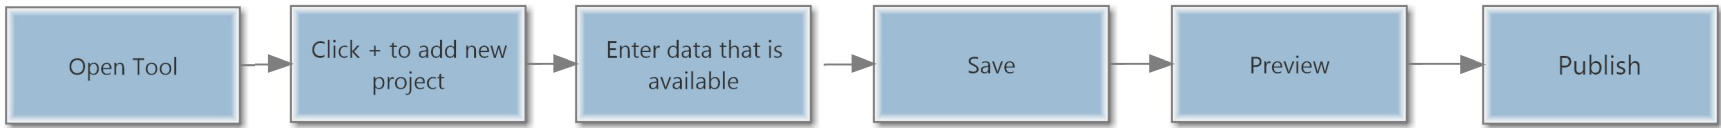

Tool opens to a short list of recent projects

Add button - a plus sign. Intuitive?

Tab through fields in order

What's the best location for the save button?

View the project, on the test site?

Do we need to set permissions for who can publish?

Status default value - Upcoming Bid

Dates - use calendar widgets

Times - use time widgets

Contractors and Consultants - Show list of existing people. Should be able to add a new one on the fly that may or may not be saved. Some may not be used that often and we don't want to clutter the list with people who aren't used very often.

Project Managers - Show list of existing managers. Should be able to add a new one on the fly.

Documents - Can we pull the title from the repository so we don't have to type in the title?
